

Pennsylvania, The Melting Pot

The Pennsylvanians of today came from many nationalities. Nationality means they belonged to different nations. This map shows where the early settlers from Europe lived. Use the map to answer the questions below.

 Predominantly
Scotch-Irish

 Predominantly English

 Predominantly German

1. Place an X where you live. What was the most common nationality of the people where you live according to the map? _____
2. Is there a section or neighborhood in your town that has a large number of people of the same nationality? What is it called? _____
Which nationality does it represent? _____
3. Talk to your parents and relatives about the nation your family came from. What is their favorite food? _____ Why did they settle in Pennsylvania? _____

SOMETHING EXTRA

Make a list of the nationalities of early Pennsylvania settlers. What contributions in Pennsylvania did they make then? What contributions are they making now?